Tessa & Brad

We had been following and admiring Erin's work for years, and so we were thrilled when we were able to book her for our engagement session and wedding. Within minutes of our first meeting, we knew that we had chosen the right photographer. Erin's pleasant demeanor, vibrant energy and unfailing positivity made us comfortable in front of a camera which we were doubtful was even possible!

We were so delighted with the final products of both of our shoots. Erin delivered perfect posed shots, but we were mostly awestruck at the pictures that we didn't know were being taken. Erin must have some kind of sixth sense for moments because the beauty and emotion she managed to capture in our candid photos was astounding. Not only is Erin an artist in the truest sense of the word, she is a genuinely lovely person and we are so lucky that she was the one to capture some of our happiest moments.

Whenever people ask our advice about wedding planning, the first thing we always say is to make sure you find the right photographer (well, after "find out if Erin is available") because Erin truly made such a difference in how we will remember that day.

Erin, from the bottom of our hearts – thank you. We will cherish our photos for a lifetime and will be forever grateful that you shared your passion with us.

xoxo Tessa & Brad
